On the Web auction block to help kids for Christmas

Four one-of-a-kind Cabbage Patch Kids dolls crafted in the likenesses of presidential candidates Barack Obama and John McCain and vice presidential candidates Joe Biden and Sarah Palin will be auctioned on the eBay.com website. All proceeds from the auction, which begins Thursday and ends Nov. 4, will benefit the Marine Corps' Toys for Tots Foundation. "These four folks in particular seemed like the perfect candidates, if you will, to become one-of-a-kind Cabbage Patch Kids," said Jakks Pacific Inc. spokeswoman Genna Rosenberg. "We've had a great history with making celebrity look-alikes with these Kids." Jakks Pacific also will auction six limited-edition 25th-anniversary dolls that have been created to look identical to the original Cabbage Patch Kids that were first released in 1983.
